We have made some changes to the Multicategories Component for Joomla!1.5. Here is the bugs that have been fixed:

- no categories displayed when "all" option was selected in the "Display #" list;
- on some installations "Fatal error: Cannot redeclare class ContentHelperRoute" message appeared when component was accessed from the frontend.

Also we have added Control Panel where you can make a backup of the Multicategories table. That's just in case you want to update the component to a newer version and keep your current Multicategories category structure. The Backup function will store your category structure in backup table. After that you may uninstall the old version of the Multicategories component and then install the new one. Thus your saved category structure will be restored from the backup.

Go to the Multicategories Component for Joomla!1.5 page to download the last version.
